SAILOR ASSISTS IN DELIVERING NATIVE BABIES

NEWARK — PAUL MANLEY, 22, pharmacist's mate first class, U. S. N., is back in the Bay section after seeing action in the South Pacific—action including assisting in delivery of 36 babies in a native village.

Manley was wounded in the Solomons engagement, but gave himself first aid. "You don't say anything about things like that if you can possibly take care of it yourself", he told his grandmother, Mrs. Leonora Nunes, of Newark.

Incidentally, Paul feels he has much more reason to be proud of his grandmother than she has of him. She is 65 and is now in her 20th year of employment at the Graham Manufacturing Company, now engaged in defense work. Having lost her husband 22 years ago she has educated her four children, Joseph, working in the shipyards; Mrs. Beatrice Miller and Mrs. Adelaide DeValle of Newark, and Mrs. Violet Crowl, mother of Paul, of Hayward.

Paul graduated from the Washington Union High School in 1939, enlisted and trained at San Diego; was chosen by the Marines to fill out a medical corps bound for the Solomons. He has now been transferred back to the Navy and is on duty at an Oakland receiving hospital. His brother, Bob, 20 graduated from the local high school in June and is now awaiting induction into the Army.

IS MADE ENSIGN

JOHN ROBERT STOJANOVICH, officer manager of the Pacific States Steel Co., here for the past five years has been given the rank of Ensign in the Navy and is at the home of his parents in Campbell waiting orders to report for active duty. He is a graduate of Santa Clara University and is a member of the Niles Rotary Club.

Lieut. and Mrs. L. W. MUSICK, formerly of Decoto are now established at 1003 East Sinto, in Spokane 13, Washington, a card sent this newspaper reveals.

Captain and Mrs. E. C. GRAU and daughter Betty occupied their home at Niles Thursday night of last week. On Friday they all returned by train to Corvallis, Oregon where he is on duty with the Medical Corps, concluding a month's leave, part of which they spent at Pine Crest in the Sierras.

Corporal VERNON ELLSWORTH, stationed with the Air Support Command at Camp Young, near Indio, California has been promoted to sergeant.

S1/c ROBERT BRAGG visited his parents in Niles a few days this week prior to being "shipped out".

Private RAY HALL, has returned to his camp in the East after a fifteen day furlough which he spent with his wife and small daughter and several friends in Irvington.

Sergeant JOE JANEIRO, who is in the U. S. Army stationed in the State of Washington, is home on his first furlough visiting his wife and relatives.

TOM WILSON, who is in the U. S. Army, is visiting his wife here in Decoto.

FDR says:

I hope Americans will figure out for themselves additional payroll savings.

JOE PERRY, Jr., who is in the U. S. Army in the Southern part of the State, is visiting at the home of his parents in Decoto.

CORP AL SILVERIA WRITES FROM HAWAII

The following letter was received from Albert Silveria of Warm Springs former president of the Township Softball association, now a Corporal serving with the Coast Artillery in the Hawaiian Islands.

August 9, 1943

Dear Walt:

I received a bill some time last month for my subscription to the paper so enclosed is a money order. Some of the papers are lost but the ones I receive are really worth getting. It keeps one posted on what is going on at home.

I was rather surprised some time ago to have two local boys "Doc" Rose and Bill Enos come in to pay me a visit. I had no idea they were so close by. The place is getting a little boring but I guess we can take it along with everything else.

Give my regards to E. D. Bristow and all the boys, I remain As Ever Al Silveria

PURSE TAKES RIDE ON RUNNING BOARD

Another purse that took a ride on a running board was reported here after Mrs. Sophia Quartaroli of Morrison Canyon, returned to its owner one that contained $75 in cash, bank book, keys and other valuables.

Mrs. Quartaroli had called at the Decoto Cannery to purchase peaches for home canning and when she arrived home she found the purse on the running board of her car. She telephoned Mrs. Hertzog of 105th Avenue, San Leandro, who came for her property and said she must have laid it on the running board when she helped put a box of peaches into her own car.

Last week, under similar circumstances, Mrs. Freda Redd of 578 Kenwyn Road received her purse containing approximately $450 in cash and checks and other valuables when it was returned by the finder, Mrs. Mettie Carver of 960 Filbert Street.

MARIA ESCOBAR, 84, DIES IN WARM SPRINGS

WARM SPRINGS—Funeral services were held Wednesday for Maria P. D. Escobar, 84, wife of late Manuel D. Escobar and mother of eight children. Mass was said at St. Joseph's Church at Mission San Jose and interment was made in St. Joseph's Cemetery under the direction of the Berge Mortuary.

Mrs. Escobar was a native of the Azores and was a member of the S. P. R. S. I. Lodge No. 3 of Mission San Jose. Surviving are the eight children, Mary L., Rose M., Louisa A., Margaret H., Manuel D. Jr., Joseph L., all of Warm Springs; Frank R. of Vallejo, Antone M., of Watsonville and two grandchildren.

The rosary was said at the Berge Mortuary parlors on Tuesday night.

DOG FOR DEFENSE

Mrs. James Nunes, who lives on the Niles-Centerville highway contributed her Doberman-Pinscher dog to national defense and it was taken to San Carlos this week for training. Mrs. James Whipple, Township chairman of the Dogs for Defense activity, is happy to relate.

MRS. ALICE ROSE DIES

WARM SPRINGS — Mrs. Alice Rose, 31, died at an Oakland hospital Monday after an extended illness. She is survived by her husband, Theodore, two small children and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Caton Lawrence all of Warm Springs. Funeral services were conducted by the Berge Mortuary at Irvington.

The dome of San Francisco City Hall is 308 feet high, 10 feet higher than the National Capitol at Washington.

COUNTY BASIC TAX RATE TO DROP TEN CENTS

A reduction in the basic tax rate for Alameda County from $1.29 to $1.19 for the 1943-44 fiscal year was announced as forthcoming by Supervisor Thomas E. Caldecott, chairman of the Board of Supervisor's finance committee.

The reduction will reflect savings in the welfare and security fund, which finances old age pensions, resulting from State legislation changing the State's share of the payments from 50 to 83 one-third per cent, Caldecott said.

The budget, which will be adopted in preliminary form August 10, also provides for new construction at the county hospitals and detention home for the post-war period.

The tentative budget total is $5,682,443 compared to $6,133,748 for the 1942-43 fiscal year, according to John Hurst, statistician for the Board of Supervisors.

The tax rate will apply against a non-operative property assessment valuation, exclusive of property assessed by the State amounting to $408,675,760 a figure which is $11,954,085 higher than the assessment roll of the 1942-43 fiscal year.

NILES ROTARY CLUB HAS 8-STAR FLAG

Fourth and latest flag to adorn the meeting room of the Niles Rotary Club at the Florence Restaurant is the service flag which now bears eight stars—the ninth to be announced in a week or two when Uncle Sam completes negotiations for another dentist.

Represented on the service flag are Lieut. W. L. Musick, U. S. N., Ensign James Graham, U. S. N., Ensign John Stojanovich, U. S. N., John Berchem, S. C. second class, U. S. N., Capt. E. C. Grau, Army Medical Corps; Sergt. Eernon Ellsworth, Army Air Forces; Earl Wilms, Army and Leonard Osmond, officer in the British Army.

PICNIC IS HELD

ALVARADO — Twenty-one members of the Alvarado Farm Home Department attended the annual picnic held at the Hayward Memorial Park recently. Dutch whist followed the luncheon at which Mrs. Maryetta Holman, county farm home demonstration agent was a guest. In charge of entertainment were Mrs. Josephine, Mrs. J. J. Perry, Mrs. J. J. Bristow, Mrs. Hazel W. A. Baldwin, and Mrs. W. A. Baldwin is Township Chairman of the Cookie Brigade.

SERVICE SUNDAY

The first fall service at the Niles Congregational Church will be held this Sunday evening beginning at 8 o'clock with Reverend D. Q. Grabill in charge. The trustees have chosen the evening hour because so many people are working in the canneries during the day time. There will be no morning worship service during the harvest season. The public is cordially invited to attend the evening service.

17C PER BOX ADVOCATED FOR TOMATO PICKING

Maximum ceiling price of 17 cents a box for picking tomatoes, with provision for upward adjustment on low-yield acreage and during the season-end cleanup, was advocated during a hearing conducted in Hayward last week by the California Agricultural Wage Board.

The price topped requests of 15 cents for Yolo County and 16 cents for Sacramento and San Joaquin Counties, approved at a Sacramento hearing Tuesday.

Recognizing that a fixed ceiling would preclude growers from offering bonuses for work in low-production fields, a proposal to permit exemptions from the established maximum was favored for extreme cases. Growers would petition county war boards for permission to offer higher wages for picking short crops.

Necessity for the adjustment was generally admitted in view of assertions that pickers will work in low yield fields only when an increased price per box is paid to offset the smaller number of boxes picked.

Originally advanced as a suggested method of establishing wages on the basis of yield, a schedule offered by Herbert Young, chairman of the Alameda County War Board, may form the basis for ceiling exemptions. It proposes wage rates ranging from 16 cents a box where the yield is 100 boxes to the acre or more, upward to 23 cents where the yield is 40 or less. It was indicated that on this basis an average worker could earn from $6.90 a day on the lower yield up to $12.80 a day at the height of the season.

Establishment of a box ceiling price rather than an hourly wage was unanimously favored and virtually all persons testifying agreed a ceiling of 16 or 17 cents a box would be fair to both grower and picker. Growers also advocated an additional ceiling on payments to labor contractors. It was pointed out that excessive payments to contractors might be used to break the wage ceiling.

All tomato growing sections of Alameda County were well represented, with testimony taken from growers of the Hayward, Washington Township, Livermore and Pleasanton areas.

Mrs. Walter Robie was hostess to the Alvarado Birthday Club at a luncheon at the International Kitchen at Niles last week.

HARVEST SUCCESS DEPENDS UPON VOLUNTEER LABOR

CENTERVILLE — In spite of advance preparations of Government agencies to place sufficient labor in the tomato fields of southern Alameda county, the success of the harvest beginning September 1 will depend largely upon volunteer part-time workers. Frank Buckner, assistant State supervisor of the emergency farm project, told a mass meeting at Washington Union High School last week.

Stressing the importance of tomatoes to the armed forces, Buckner said it was essential that every man, woman and child devote as many hours as possible to harvesting the crop.

Last year California delivered to canneries 798,000 tons of tomatoes, 25 per cent of the country's supply. This year there are 111,000 acres of tomatoes planted in California of which 6000 acres are in Washington Township.

A. E. O'Donnell, field representative of the California State Farm Bureau Federation, discussed group insurance for growers. T. A. Perkins, Alameda County farm labor placement manager, spoke regarding labor camps for girls at high schools here and in Pleasanton, Mexicans at the fair grounds at Pleasanton and Negroes at Alvarado and requirements to be met by farmers regarding sanitary arrangements, drinking water and insurance.

Other speakers were T. O. Morrison, county agent, and E. D. Bristow, local labor placement official, who has established an office at the Alameda County Water District headquarters at Centerville. Jack Rees, chairman of the local labor committee, presided.

9 RATION BOARD WORKERS HONORED

Special awards will be made by the OPA to nine volunteer workers at the Washington Township Rationing Board, all of whom are staff assistants of the Red Cross.

First on the list is Mrs. Blake Hill of Alvarado who has served 700 hours since the start of the rationing program. Others who have served 100 hours or more are Mrs. George Bonde, Mrs. Marston Dassel, Mrs. E. E. Dias, Mrs. E. A. Ellsworth, Mrs. J. V. Goold, Mrs. George Karel, Miss Nancy McKeown and Mrs. Jack Silva. Fourteen other staff assistants have also been serving at the ration board, according to Mrs. L. E. Bailey who is chairman of the Red Cross staff assistants.

CENTERVILLE WOMAN IS GIVEN LAST RITES

CENTERVILLE — Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon for Lillian Tobin, 55 at the Chapel of the Palms, following her death at an Oakland hospital where she had been ill for some time. Interment was at the I. O. O. F. Cemetery at Irvington.

TEACHER NAMED

NEWARK — Mrs. Carol Miller Gilbert of San Jose has been elected to teach at the Newark Grammar School, succeeding Mrs. Clyde Voorhees, who is taking a year's leave of absence.

"The Lord is my shepherd; I shall not want. He maketh me lie down in green pastures; he leadeth me beside the still waters. He restoreth my soul." These words from Psalms comprised the Golden

Text used Sunday, August 15, in all Churches of Christ, Scientist.

The subject of the Lesson-Sermon was "Soul".

Included among the Scriptural selections was: "Then said Jesus unto his disciples, If any man will come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross and follow me—For what is a man profited, if he shall gain the whole world,

and lose his own soul?"

(Matt. 16: 24-26 to ?).

The following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, was also included: "It is our ignorance of God, the divine Principle, which produces apparent discord, and the right understanding of Him restores harmony. Truth will at length compel us all to exchange the pleasures and pains of sense for the joys of Soul",

(p. 390).

Scheduled for Fall canning

There's still time to fill those cupboards with home canned foods for enjoyment next winter. Scheduled for fall canning are all those tomato products, pickles, relishes, and sauces which give winter menus a lift. The equipment you need for putting up these products is no more than a preserving kettle or any other large kettle, and a few gadgets that you use every day. So get ready for fall canning.

CANNED WHOLE TOMATOES

Select firm, ripe, medium-sized tomatoes. Scald in boiling water for 1 minute. Plunge in cold water 1 minute. Peel, core and pack in hot sterilized fruit jars. Fill jars with boiling hot water or tomato juice to within 1/2 inch of top for quarts and 1/2 inch for pints; seal jars. Process in water bath for 45 minutes; or in pressure cooker 15 minutes at 5 pounds pressure.

TOMATO HOT SAUCE

12 lbs. ripe tomatoes
1 lb. onions
1 tbsp. whole allspice
1 tbsp. celery seed
2 tps. whole white pepper

Wash, core, and quarter tomatoes. Peel onions and cut in wedges. Combine tomatoes, onions and spices tied in a bag in large preserving kettle. Cook until tomatoes are soft and slightly thickened. Remove spice bag. Cool and sieve tomato mixture into large sauce pan. Cook until thickened, about 20 minutes, stirring frequently. Pour into hot sterilized fruit jars; seal at once. Makes 4 qts.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Southwest Pacific Campaigns Unfold With Decisive Victories Against Japs; Allied Chiefs Confer for Sixth Time; WPB: 'Essential Civilian Goods Only'

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.)
Released by Western Newspaper Union.

SOUTHWEST PACIFIC: 'Victory Sure'

The Allies' Solomons and New Guinea campaign unfolded in a victorious pattern: Munda lay stormed. Allied troops beat their way through the thick jungle toward Salamaua. The big guns of America's fleet battered at the enemy's faltering supply line. Ranging U. S. airmen gave heartened ground troops assistance by machine gunning and bombing the Nips in low level attacks.

From his headquarters in the Southwest Pacific, Gen. Douglas MacArthur declared: "The margin was close, but it was conclusive. Although for many reasons our victories may have lacked in glamorous focus, they have been decisive in the final result in the Pacific."

"I make no predictions as to the time and detail, but Japan, on the Pacific fronts, has exhausted the fullest resources of the concentrated attack of which she was capable."

After one month of fighting, three German divisions stood behind in Sicily for a suicidal rearguard action against the overwhelming air and ground superiority of the Allies. As the campaign neared its finale, the Rome radio announced that all Italian troops had been pulled out of the embattled island.

With the bulk of the Allies' 10 divisions bearing down through the sloping valley below Mt. Etna to encompass the last two important communication lines running north and south, and with fleets of bombers pulverizing important Axis concentration centers, the ring around the enemy was drawn tighter.

Hewn into the rugged country, German strongholds put up a bitter, last-ditch fight against the advancing Allies, machine-gunning and throwing mortar fire at Allied troops picking their way slowly up the open, craggy hills. Wherever they fell back, the Germans were dynamiting the hill or mountain sides to block off the roads.

DADS' DRAFT: Congress May Act

Congressional action to settle the controversial question of the induction of fathers loomed with the announcement of Representative Andrew J. May that he would introduce a bill prohibiting the drafting of dads when the legislators reconvene September 14.

Importance of the development lay in the fact that May is chairman of the military affairs committee, on which the house relies for judgment in army matters. May said that with 10 million men already under arms and with 80,000 18-year-olds being inducted each month, the army is of sufficient size.

HOME FRONT: Essential Goods Only

Limited supplies of carbon and alloy steel, copper and aluminum preclude the possibility of an increase in less essential civilian goods, the War Production board announced. To keep production schedules geared to available supplies, WPB said, it was necessary to reduce requests of the military, civilian, lend-lease and other claimant agencies by 13 per cent for the third quarter. The services' demands for carbon steel were pared by 9 per cent, and all others' requests by 17 per cent. Because of manpower shortages, the situation in copper is particularly tight, it was reported.

At the present time, the government is conducting a survey to determine the inventory of civilian goods, and it is expected that any future requests for critical material for such goods would be considered on the basis of available supplies.

ALLIED CHIEFS: Important Meet

With world events moving in a swift and momentous current, stoop-shouldered, twinkling Prime Minister Winston Churchill of Great Britain bridged the Atlantic to arrive on the North American continent for his sixth meeting with President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

As the two leaders sat down at the same table for the most important of their conferences to date, Sicily lay beaten, Mussolini had given way to a military government in Italy, rumors were rife that the army was assuming direction in Germany, and Japan was making an effort to bring Russia and the Nazis together in Europe with a sacrifice of some of her own territory in Manchuria or Siberia.

The urgency of opening another front in Europe, of extending operations in the Pacific where General MacArthur's army was pushing the Japs from their island strongholds, were among the military questions under intense consideration.

RUSSIA:

Drive on Kharkov

With Orel and Belgorod at their backs, Russia's surging armies closed in on the once-great industrial metropolis of Kharkov. All along the southern front, German troops fell back before the long, powerful arms of Red pincers could firmly entrap and destroy them.

Once known as the "Pittsburgh" of Russia, Kharkov, like Stalingrad, lay in ruins, a gaunt ghost of the once-busy industrial center which turned out steel and armament for the Red armies. Occupied by the Germans early in the war, it was recaptured by Russia, only to be lost this spring.

After the capture of Orel, the Reds secured use of a rail line running south from Moscow through Belgorod to a point about 30 miles west of Kharkov. This gives them better communication in their rear.

THE desperate effort of Gundar Hagg to run a mile around four minutes flat brings up again the matter of how much the human system can handle.

saw him a few minutes after the race.

In reply to our congratulations Charley shook his head. "I had my biggest chance today," he said. "But found I couldn't use it."

It must be remembered that Paddock had strong, powerful legs, thigh and calf.

"As I passed the 50 yard spot," he explained, "I knew I was flying. I knew I was running faster than I had ever run before. As I came to some place around the 70 yard mark I felt I was moving at an even faster pace, and felt certain I was on my way to a nine second flat performance. I knew it was my best and biggest day."

"Then suddenly I felt the muscles and ligaments in my legs begin to quiver and expand, and got the idea that if I continued any longer at this pace I would face a big blowup or blowout, and might finish a cripple for life."

"Maybe I was wrong in this guess. Maybe I could have finished with my legs intact. I had to make my decision in a split second and I couldn't force myself to take the gamble."

"The price was too high. So, instinctively I slowed down and reduced my speed. At the finish the muscles in both legs were still quivering. In spite of this forced slowdown I still finished in 9% seconds. I'm not sure any pair of human legs can stand a 9 second flat pace."

Horses Burn Out, Too

"Horses are much like humans in this respect," a veteran trainer said, in discussing human and other animal limits.

"Take the case of Johnstown. Here was probably the fastest running horse that ever lived. He was clocked more than once in mile workouts around 1 minute 33% seconds, or 1:33%. That's blinding speed. But the pace was more than his system could carry. He was through in the middle of his three-year career. He burnt himself out through some form of throat ailment."

"In the same way, super-speed was largely responsible for Count Fleet's summer trouble. He had had several things happen to him in racing, for which extra speed was largely responsible. It might be possible for a horse to run a mile in 1:33, but I doubt that his legs or anatomy could stand it."

A four-minute mile doesn't call for anything like the speed approaching a fast 100 yard spurt, but it means close to the limit in the way of time for a far longer period.

A quarter mile in a minute flat is still some 13 seconds over the record for that distance. But a four minute mile is close to a sprint, and that's a long way to go.

There is still considerable doubt that Anderson of Sweden was correctly timed in his 4:02 plus mile. He may have been, but the odds are not that way.

Hagg will still have to clip a trifle more than four seconds from his fastest time, and four seconds mean a good many yards.

It would take some pacing opponent good enough for 4:02 or better to give Hagg his four-minute chance. And there is no such other miler now in sight unless Anderson, another fast Swede, can do the job.

It's something like Warmerdam looking for those extra inches in the pole vault to lift his body 15 feet.

Harness Racing

"I see where Empire is opening up to harness racing," James Casey writes me. "I'd like to be there. I've never seen a running race yet that compared to our light harness races."

"Remember Dan Patch? He won a lot of races on the Grand Circuit, and all in straight heats. Remember he established the world's record for a mile in 1:58. He was eventually sold to Savage Stock farm for $50,000."

A Dream Come True

Back in what you might call "far away and long ago," "Babe" Ruth's big dream was to be a major league manager.

At last the burly one got his chance to handle a club from the bench, after waiting many years.

The "Babe" was the all-high mandarin of the Yankees and Indians against the U. S. Naval Pre-flight North Carolina-service team for Ed Barrow's all out war fund.

There should be more of these contests—many more.

'They Advanced Our Operations by a Week'

High above Sicily groups of gliders dip earthward as silently as the air which flowed over their streamlined surfaces. They swoop to a stop in some remote farm field. Men, heavily armed, quickly step from the gliders, then dash for cover.

The only sound is the booming of nearby enemy and invading force fire. At the rear, enemy lines are thrown into confusion by a barrage from grenades and howitzers. The glider borne troops are at work. With its fire divided the enemy fails to stop the invading troops who take a beachhead and rapidly advance inland.

The training of glider pilots begins in light planes like this. After eight weeks they progress to larger sailplanes, the transport gliders.

The sudden morale shattering attacks of glider borne troops which dropped out of the night sky so disrupted enemy defenses in Sicily that General Sir Bernard L. Montgomery said: "They advanced our operations by a week."

Above: Although heavily loaded, the glider leaves the ground before the bomber which tows it. Note tow-line, which can be released far from enemy ears. Left: Troops waiting to touch ground.

Troops leap from the glider and charge through a protective smoke screen to take nearby enemy installation by surprise. Just such attacks marked the largest air borne troop operations in history which began at about 10 p. m. the night of the Sicilian invasion.

Weeks of practice train every man for the specific job he is to do upon landing. This fighter drops into prone position and sights his rifle.

Washington, D. C.

'FATHER' BARUCH

Gaunt, gray Bernie Baruch, whose relentless prodding of the war effort has saved more lives than anyone can estimate, is worried over a lot of things besides tanks, airplanes and machine guns. Among other things he is worried over the human problem of readjusting the lives of people who have flooded the cities, who have been thrown out of joint by the war.

Sitting on his park bench in Lafayette park, where he holds "office" conferences, Bernie sees the stream of girls, thousands of them from all over the U. S. A., dumped into government offices, into crowded boarding houses, and wonders what will happen to them when the war is over.

Baruch won't tell you—but his friends will—about how he handled this problem after the last war.

He had employed several thousand clerks and stenographers in his War Industries board, and after the Armistice he began to worry about whether these girls were going back to their homes or would remain in the exciting cities.

So he sent each girl a letter thanking her for the time and loyal work she had given her country. And as a hint that she should go back to her mother he suggested: "Anyone who will apply at my office can receive a railroad ticket back home."

Baruch also attached to each letter a $10 bill.

The railroad tickets were paid for out of his own pocket, since the government does not pay for personal transportation, and it cost Baruch many thousands of dollars. He was a little fearful that some of the girls might have taken the tickets, then turned them in to the railroad. However, he hoped that he might have helped to get at least a fair proportion out of the city and back home.

HCL

The high cost of living which the coal miners have complained about recently was substantiated by an OPA survey of company stores in western Pennsylvania.

John A. Fath, who made the survey, came back with a report of "exorbitant prices and mark-ups" and insisted that company stores, which do no advertising or sales promotion, should sell their goods at lower prices than other stores, rather than higher.

He found suits selling for $38.50 which cost the store $12.50. He found a shoe box marked $9.95, but inside the box he found the shoes themselves marked with crayon, "$6.50."

Result of the survey already has been a voluntary price roll-back in the company stores. Now that the government has taken over the mines, the OPA is moving to make this company store price roll-back not voluntary, but universal.

Note—Fath was once a storekeeper himself in Millville, N. J., hometown of Leon Henderson. He gave Henderson his first job.

HONORS FOR WORKMEN

The Office of War Information is arranging a de luxe program for next Labor day, hailing the contribution of American workmen in the drive for victory. "Producing for Attack" will be the theme of the program, and it will include inspirational broadcasts by President Roosevelt and other top-ranking war leaders.

However, this isn't the only labor show on the OWI schedule this year. Another special celebration for Labor, to be known as "On to Victory" day also will be observed within the next two months.

It was conceived by Maj. Paul Hines, chief of the labor branch of the Fourth Service command at Atlanta, Ga., and promoted by Hervey Allen, author of "Anthony Adverse."

All war plants will be asked to declare an "hour off" on "On to Victory" day, at which time special "War Merit" emblems will be awarded.

Climaxing the "On to Victory" programs will be a nation-wide broadcast in the evening—according to OWI plans—featuring such speakers as President Roosevelt, Winston Churchill, Generals MacArthur, Eisenhower and Doolittle and Admirals King and Halsey. Joseph Stalin and General Chiang Kai-shek of China also may be invited to take part. All the speakers will have a special message for American labor.

The evening broadcast will conclude with the sounding of taps from the steps of the nation's Capitol, in memory of our war dead, and an answering taps by U. S. buglers in Europe and the South Pacific.

MERRY-GO-ROUND

One thing President Roosevelt talked to President Avila Camacho about while in Mexico was permitting 12,000 Polish refugees to enter Mexico from Europe. Mexico has consented.

Congressman Mike Monroney of Oklahoma is trying to rent Bill Bullett's palatial Washington house now that the ex-ambassador will run for mayor of Philadelphia.

John Carlson's book "Under Cover" on American fascism is really going places.

HIGHLIGHTS . . . in the week's news

RUSSIAN OIL: Pay rates of Russian oil field and refinery workers have been raised to stimulate production, says a dispatch from Moscow. Basic wages will now be rated on nine levels, two new ones for specialists having been added. Commentators believe that the new oil industry scale is the first step toward greater recognition of experienced, valuable workers.

COFFEE PLASTIC: Thousands of articles, from radio cabinets to airplane wings, can be made of a new plastic derived from coffee, says Dr. Argeu Guimaraes, new consul from Brazil. The new substance, still in the experimental stage, is called "cafelite." The consul believes that a great new market will be opened for coffee, one of Brazil's principal crops.

SICILY, U. S. A.?

American Army officers in Sicily are confronted with the job of convincing the civilians on that occupied Italian island that democracy cannot be exported at the point of the bayonet.

The civilian Sicilians firmly believe that citizenship in the U. S. A. inevitably and immediately follows the American flag. And now that the flag has been planted on a large portion of their island, many according to correspondents there, already are talking about their "rights and privileges" as American citizens.

While the reaction of the Sicilians is flattering, yet it provides perhaps the most tragic commentary on the sad level to which Fascism reduced them. It left them apparently unaware that citizenship in a democracy involves responsibilities as well as rights and privileges.

The Sicilians have yet to learn that democracy comes from within, and not at the point of the bayonet. All the bayonet can do is to lift the yoke of oppression from their necks and remove the forces which stifle the growth of self rule. The achievement of democracy itself is a job for the Sicilians and not for the American occupation forces.

FISHING WITH NEW BAIT

On the defensive on all fronts and with hope of victory apparently gone, the Germans are fishing with new bait in an effort to find a rift in the United Nations' stand for unconditional surrender.

This is the only logical explanation of the reports that have cropped up simultaneously in most of the neutral capitals that Hitler has been replaced by a triumvirate consisting of the army and navy chiefs and the "fat boy" of the Nazi party, Wilhelm Goering.

The significant thing about these reports is that they have been allowed to come out of Germany despite a tight censorship. And they indicate that the generals are prepared to use Hitler as a scapegoat just as their predecessors used the Kaiser in the first World War.

Earlier in the war, the Germans tried to divide the United Nations with a proposal to withdraw in the west if given a free hand against Russia. This was the proposal, which the British turned down flatly.

Insofar as the American people are concerned, their reaction to these reports about Hitler's replacement is one of adamant determination to prosecute the war until Germany is forced into unconditional surrender.

Our enemy is the system of militarism and dictatorship in Germany, not just Hitler or any other individuals. And the removal of Hitler—like the downfall of Mussolini—will not finish the fight. Only unconditional surrender will do that.

Look for it in The Township Register.

CHURCHILL CHEERS UP

It is most significant that Churchill, the past master of gloom, should have made a statement in French to French people in Quebec, Canada that the war would be "over from now to within six months." Maybe, being in North America, which is God's Country, he caught a glimpse of light for a moment.

He did not say the war "could be" over he said "would be." And he did not say "won"; he said "over." That means it ends without being won. The last war ended without being won—and very suddenly, too: because the Germans just quit fighting.

The United Press dispatch quoted him as using the French word "d'ici". The "d" is abbreviation for "de", French for "of", and "ici", so far as this writer knows French means "here". The French word for "now" is maintenant.

Anyhow, it is cheering news to hear the Old Master of Gloom making a cheerful statement. It is Churchill who was responsible for the statement "things have to worsen before they can better." An American does not understand such talk.

THOSE WHO CAN SHOULD CONTRIBUTE TO BLOOD BANK

Everyone should be interested in the story of the Yorktown sailor who credits the fact that he is recovering from injuries to the fact that somewhere, at some time, men and women have been willing to take time out to donate a pint of their blood at a bloodbank. In his case, 25 units were necessary to get him back on his feet. In other cases as many as 50 plasma treatments have been necessary.

This may be considered a little exceptional. Little is said of the thousands who have been given one or two units and who can credit their recovery to the blood donations.

It is not difficult, therefore, to understand why there is such a crying need for more and more blood donors. Blood banks have difficulty at times in attaining their quotas. Army and navy doctors who must work with the injured, are surprised at this. They know what blood plasma is doing for the injured, and they know also that if the public would think for just a moment, there would be no scarcity of blood donors.

TAX REDUCTION BY COUNTY REPRESENTS SMALL SAVING

Good news for taxpayers comes from Oakland where the Board of Supervisors reports a probable cut of 10c per $100 assessed valuation for the coming year. The reduction has been made possible by the absorption by the state of a major portion of old age pensions.

The amount is not considerable. Tax payers who had hoped for a greater saving to help carry the burden of Federal taxation are somewhat disappointed in the saving which for the average home owner will be practically negligible. To the county, however, this means a loss of in excess of a half million another wing could be built on a hospital, bad roads could be repaired and a lot of other work done. So, small as it may seem to the average home owner, it is a fair sized piece of money to the men elected to run this country. Whether more could be lopped off without injuring county efficiency is difficult to say until a detailed study of the budget has been made.

"UNDER COVER AGENTS"

When the unlamented NRA died years ago, it was firmly believed and sincerely hoped that one of its most despicable schemes, the anonymous complaint, Gestapo-like in its viciousness, had died with it. But now it is revived by the OPA in its Consumer's Complaint Form. Anyone can make a complaint mail the form unsigned and postage free to Washington, D. C., and the business firm complained against must defend itself against violation of an OPA regulation without even knowing who made the complaint. It is particularly vicious because it will be utilized by trouble makers filing unjustified complaints. Persons with legitimate complaints to make will have their say and will not resort to this underhand method of filing them. —Livermore Herald

PUBLIC UTILITY VALUES REACH ALL-TIME HIGH

SACRAMENTO— Value of property owned by California public utility companies reached an all-time high in 1943, it was announced today by the State Board of Equalization.

James H. Quinn, second district member of the Board, explained that the total assessment of such holdings amounted to $1,165,432,740, an increase of approximately $70,000,000 or 6.4 per cent over 1942. The current total included tangible property amounting to $1,047,786,880, and intangible property, $117,645,860.

Board records show that in Alameda County the public utility property was assessed as follows: Intangible $949,490; tangible $67,558,070. The total of tangible property represented an increase of 1.64 per cent as compared with 1942.

FLOATING STREETCAR

Two soldiers had just managed to stagger aboard a street car, reports Stars and Stripes. One of them turned to the nearest uniformed person and offered his fare. "Sorry I can't take it," replied the stranger. "I'm a naval officer."

"Holy smoke, Joe," shouted the soldier to his buddy, "let's get offa here. We've boarded a battleship."

Extremely Short
Diner--Some strawberry short-cake, please.
Waiter--Here you are, sir.
Diner--Where are the straw-berries?
Waiter--That's what's short!

You Said It!
Jones--Did you understand what your wife meant when she said to look out for the Sword of Damocles?
Smith--No, that's over my head.

A Hint???
He--I'm thinking of asking some girl to marry me.
She--It's a good idea, if you ask me.

LUCKY GIRL

Jane--Well, Muriel married a man with a pug nose.
Joan--She waited long enough. Something had to turn up.

Victory Garden Joke 199,999
Preacher--Rastus, you and the Lord have made a wonderful improvement in that lot you're working on.
Rastus--Yassuh, we has. But youall should a seen it when de Lawd was taken care ob it by Hisself!

And Buses Too?
Joe--It's getting now so you have to be careful about politeness at the movies.
Jerry--What do you mean?
Joe--I stood up to let a lady pass the other night and she slipped into my seat.

Glutton for Experience
Joe--So you're keeping bees, now. What's the idea?
Harry--Well, I don't want to miss anything and I've been stung every other way I know.

Well Remembered!
Harry--Did your rich uncle remember you when he made his will?
Jerry--I guess so. He left me out.

Slight Encouragement
Patient--How are my chances, Doc?
Doctor--Pretty good. But don't start reading any continued stories.

Quite Evident
Then there was the professor who told one of his class: "Erase the board so I can show the students what I have on my mind."

Excuse Me!
Hubby--That's delicious stuffing you put in the turkey, darling.
Wifey--Stuffing? I didn't stuff it. I just cooked the turkey.

FARMER'S SPELLING

Stranger--Which is correct, "a hen is sitting" or "a hen is setting."
Farmer--I don't care. The important thing when she cackles is "is she laying" or "is she lying?"

Milkman's Helper
Father--On her last birthday I gave my daughter her first front door key.
Friend--Don't you think she's pretty young?
Father--Maybe, but I got awfully tired of having her knock the milk off the back porch.

And Dad Knows!
Sonny--Say, Dad, how soon will I be old enough to do as I please?
Dad--Son, nobody has ever lived that long!

Consolidated Features.—WNU Release.

NEW YORK.—Officials counting the ballots in the South African general election flash the word that Prime Minister Jan Christian Smuts and his pro-war regime have gained a clear majority, and there is rejoicing in all the Allied capitals. Back at the turn of the century no Boer military leader fought the British more bitterly than did this now bald and grizzled warrior of 73. Often hungry, often shoeless, he waged guerrilla warfare of the toughest sort then. Since that fighting ended, however, he has battled steadfastly on the side of the Empire.

It was he who crushed a Boer uprising at the start of World War I and went on to conquer the Germans in East Africa and become a British general. He saved South Africa for the United Nations, too, in 1939, routing the pro-Nazi forces of the late Gen. J. B. M. Hertzog at the polls to become prime minister for the second time after a 15 year lapse. His latest victory keeps South Africa firmly in the war.

Son of a poor and tough Dutch farmer, who trekked across the veldt with a Bible in one hand and a gun in the other, Smuts had reached his teens before he could read. Later he won high honors as a student at Cambridge university. Today with his pointed beard whitened by age he is still a paradox, a hard and cunning and skillful fighter and a philosopher who dares dream of a peaceful world. What's more he plans and works for that world even as he fights.

PENNANTS have been down for the WAVES' first anniversary and Navy Secretary Frank Knox button-holed congressmen to win for the organization's lieutenant commander a full captaincy. This, he argues, is the least Miss Mildred McAfee deserves, particularly if the force is to be raised from 27,000 to 91,000.

Commander McAfee's name of record is Mildred Helen; but usually it is plain Mildred, the "Helen" being silent, as in Troy these last 3,300 years. To Wellesley undergraduates she was Miss Mac. The WAVES, perky aping the real navy, call her the Old Man, a title that skirts the reefs of libel, since the commander is a mere 43 and not mannish. "I'm, yes! Perhaps even a trifle prim. But her hair is black, short-cut and crinkly; her cheeks pass inspection easily with only a powder-puff's help—and her eyes! Her smile is lively, when it comes. And from any compass point she is not bad, not bad at all."

On the day she was sworn in, her smile seemed a little ironic while beaming Secretary Knox administered the oath. Maybe, however, it was only held in check by her usual reserve.

The commander is a preacher's daughter and was born in Missouri. She studied at Vassar and Chicago and taught through French, English, economics and sociology before she reached the presidency of Wellesley. In spite of the powder puff which is her limit, she wants her WAVES "to look human."

WORD comes out of Sicily that the jeep, that mechanical jack-rabbit of the American army, is nowhering stampeded by Presenting to You Delmar G. Roos, Proud Dad of Jeep Axis armies from Palermo to Messina, and Delmar G. ("Barney") Roos must be saying, "that's my baby."

More than one man in the automotive industry can claim a good mark for the blue prints from which was designed the low-slung combat car of Col. Robert Howie's dream, but if anyone deserves to be called the jeep's daddy it is probably Barney. He was working on it as early as the spring of 1940.

Roos is a past president of the Society of Automotive Engineers and has had an adoring eye for engines of some sort ever since he cut classes to visit a roundhouse in the Bronx. He was born in New York 56 years ago, studied engineering at Cornell and won a hatful of fencing titles.

His professional career has taken him into General Electric, Locomobile, Pierce Arrow, Marmon, Durant, Studebaker and Willys-Overland to say nothing of a tie-in with various English automobile plants. In the First World War he designed special staff cars for Pershing and worked on the Liberty motor.

He is powerfully built, able to go fast at tennis and badminton. Married, he has three daughters and a 19-year-old son. He still cannot resist a roundhouse, and climbs into the cab of any locomotive on any invitation.

Washington Digest

Definite Foreign Policy Essential to America

The Issue: Shall Nation Adopt Policy of Participation in World Affairs or Shall We Aim at Nationalistic Goal?

By BAUKHAGE
News Analyst and Commentator.

WNU Service, Union Trust Building
Washington, D. C.

Today America faces its first real problem as a world power.

Italy lies before us. General Eisenhower, as commander of the Allied forces of invasion, suddenly becomes a statesman. He is a soldier. He can win battles. Now, he is the man ultimately responsible for directing American world policy. What is American world policy?

Eisenhower is firm in his decisions, certain in his own procedure, because he is responsible only to his Commander-in-Chief.

But who is his Commander-in-Chief? Roosevelt. A man who may suddenly leave the scene in the midst of battle, if the American public so decrees.

And then? Has America any firm foreign policy, unfettered by partisan political restriction, a clear-marked path that a fighting man or any other man can follow?

In a few short weeks from now, a group of busy, hard-pressed men are going to sit down on Mackinac island and try to write what American foreign policy they think ought to be sponsored by the Republican party.

These men have to face the question of committing the Republican party to a definite foreign policy. And paradoxically, by committing their party to a definite foreign policy, they may free both political parties of all commitment on foreign policy.

For if the Democrats frame similar resolutions, they can save America from a vicious split—one which, if it is not avoided, will crash party lines and can destroy the two-party system, the rock of our democracy.

The issue which America faces is simple: shall we, as a nation, underwrite a policy which will implement our participation in world affairs or shall we retire unto ourselves and pursue the nationalistic policy which says in effect: let the rest of the world stew in its own juice?

Until we took the Philippines, America was able to leave the great and vital problems which should have no political tinge, outside partisan politics. We have had other problems which have remained essentially non-partisan.

The Problems

Take labor. A vital question. But has labor ever voted solidly for one ticket or the other? No. The AFL will cast its traditional Republican votes in the coming election as it always has. Some of the CIO members will vote to support the administration. Others will vote as they darn please.

Slavery—really a labor question. That did nearly wreck the republic because it was made a partisan issue when it was not an issue at all! Many of the influential southerners were just as ready to free their slaves as the rabid abolitionists, heated with emotional fervor, failing to grasp the economic significance, were to force them to.

Again, unless a cold, calm discussion and understanding of the question of foreign policy takes place, we may face another split which, although it need not mean civil war, may mean a horrid dislocation of our whole political system.

When we went into World War II after Pearl Harbor, the word "isolationism" was forgotten. Today it has come back into our vocabularies and is being battled about, like other political footballs, by people who really don't understand its implications and are woefully ignorant of what dissension it may cause.

Politicians want to overlook it. They can't. This group of Republicans, headed by Deneen Watson, and a whole flying squadron of Democrats, too, are insistent that they be allowed to "let the people know." They are going to speak their pieces. And the only hope of lifting this discussion out of partisan politics is a "settlement out of court," an agreement by both parties on a single foreign policy.

Let's get back to that hot and perspiring day in Washington late last month when Deneen Watson and his colleagues from this self-appointed Republican organization, the Republican "foreign policy association," walked across quiet Lafayette park opposite the White House and presented themselves to Chairman Spangler of the Republican national committee.

Results of Session

It was some time before the results of this meeting between Watson and his colleagues and Chairman Spangler of the Republican national committee leaked out. Those with an anti-Republican slant, wove the words dropped into a threatened split in the Republican party, a drive to nominate Wendell Willkie for president.

To the person who tried to be objective, it was neither.

Mr. Spangler has one job—to keep the party together, to eschew any favoritism for any policy or any person. Naturally, these persistent persons who called upon him were presenting a problem. I believe it was that fact rather than what his critics said that indicated there was a leaning toward the "status quo" attitude, the desire to remain a purveyor of platitudes and follow the tide rather than to face it.

This issue—full participation in world affairs versus a return to nationalism or isolationism, if you will—is, according to our most earnest non-partisans, the most important issue which has faced the public and should not be a political football.

Briefly, what the men with their sleeves rolled up at Mackinac in September have to face is this: shall we, good Republicans, come out frankly for world-co-operation or dodge the issue?

What the Watson association demands is more than that and something the Republican national committee must face: will the party officially get behind a nation-wide campaign to "educate" the people on the international issue?

Unfortunately, personalities do get mixed up in these things and Wendell Willkie has become the symbol of the international view.

That is why it is essential, if the party is to take the issue out of partisan politics and disassociate it from any of the individuals aspiring for the Republican candidacy, that they must go on record.

The Monroe Doctrine

Walter Lippmann has written a book called "American Foreign Policy" and the point he makes is this: until 1900, politics did stop at the water's edge. We had a foreign policy (or thought we did) which was the Monroe Doctrine. According to Lippmann, we were living under a delusion. Namely, that we had under the Monroe Doctrine declared our whole policy—America for Americans (period) which implied, of course, that the rest of the world could do what it pleased so long as it kept off our grass.

We believed that we could enforce that policy ourselves. That was not correct. We were really depending on the British fleet to enforce it. It happened to be to British advantage to agree, so there was no trouble.

Then we mixed in world affairs, found we had to fight our own battles, and did it—look over Hawaii, the Philippines. But we didn't provide the means to hold them. And so, disagreeing on the various steps necessary to carry out our foreign policy, we failed to provide the means to do so—Britain was busy elsewhere, and one morning we lost the Philippines and came within an eyelash of losing Hawaii.

And so we now face the necessity of framing a new foreign policy which must include the willingness to provide security for our own shores and those other contiguous shores (South America and Canada) which might be used by an enemy against us. Or we have to take part in prophylactic measures—to stop the danger to our security in advance.

That issue once clarified by the two political parties will leave us free for a good, old-fashioned free-for-all political campaign, and if the best man wins, or the worst man wins, his policies can't affect the international welfare of the nation.

Failure of both parties to clearly set forth their views on foreign policy may well create a third party movement which could wreck the two-party system, the rock on which our Republic is founded.

LESSON TEXT—Exodus 23:1-9; Galatians 3:23-28; 5:13-14.
GOLDEN TEXT—Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy strength and with all thy mind; and thy neighbor as thyself.—Luke 10:27.

Our God is a God of order. To have order we must have law, hence God gave His people not only the fundamental law of humanity's moral sense of right and wrong, and the Ten Commandments which are the basis of all codes of law, but also those detailed regulations needed for the law's interpretation.

The law of God was not intended to establish a legalistic system of salvation by work, but, as revealed in the New Testament, it was to guide and bring us to Christ, in whom it finds its true fulfillment.

These are matters of fundamental importance and suggest the need of a careful study of our three Scripture portions.

I. The Law Established (Exod. 23:1-9)

At Sinai the Israelites were brought into the presence of God in a dramatic and solemn assembly to hear the words of God from the mountain. These were later written as the Ten Commandments on the tables of stone. Here they learned in a new way of the majesty, the righteousness, and the love of God.

The Ten Commandments are recognized as the foundation on which all legal codes, ancient and modern, are built. They cover man's relation to God and his relation to his fellow man. They are unsurpassed as a comprehensive and compact statement of the moral law.

The passage in Exodus 23 gives us some of the rules and regulations for daily life which are in a sense an interpretation of the law. This portion gives us an idea of the type of laws provided by God for His people and reveals "the moral flavor of the whole divine legislation."

The thing which impresses us as we read of the divine requirements of justice toward all, of love for one's enemies, of refraining from false witness, of refusing all bribery, is that God's standards are very high.

God's law is good, it is right, of divine quality and perfect purity. It has, however, an even higher purpose than providing direction for life. We learn of that as we hear

II. The Law Described (Gal. 3:23-28)

What was the purpose of the law? It was and is a servant of God to lead the needy sinner to Christ. The word "tutor" in verse 24 does not refer to one who teaches, but the servant who saw to it that the school boy, possibly a bit reluctant, arrived at his destination.

The law convicts of sin and makes it evident to the repentant one that he needs divine help if he is ever to meet its demands. The law really puts a man in prison (kept in ward," v. 23), and makes him look to Christ to set him free.

When one trusts Christ he comes into the place of a son. He enters upon a spiritual maturity which makes it no longer necessary to have a tutor directing and disciplining him. He has entered into a new relationship by faith, and is a child of God.

Does this mean that the law has been set aside or abrogated? Not at all. Jesus Himself said, "Think not that I am come to destroy the law... I am not come to destroy, but to fulfill" (Matt. 5:17). This is our third point.

III. The Law Fulfilled (Gal. 5:13, 14)

Paul had warned against the folly of legalism. In Christ men are free from a slavish bondage to the law. But men, desiring to substitute license for liberty, were using the grace of God as an excuse for self-indulgence and sin.

Christ has set aside all the ceremonial requirements of the law, for He became the perfect, once-for-all sacrifice for sin, which was infinitely superior to all the offerings of the Old Testament law. He thus fulfilled the type of the offerings.

The moral requirements of the law were gathered up in Him, and in Him we have only one law to fulfill, the law of love. Obedience to that law meets all the moral requirements of the Old Testament law.

Liberty to the Christian is not a freedom to do as he pleases, not "an occasion to the flesh" that it may live in selfishness and sin. We are free only to be bound by the blessed law of love.

The tablets of stone were (and still are) important. Their laws have never been set aside or withdrawn. But in Christ God has done what He spoke of through Jeremiah the prophet, He has put His law in the Christian's inner being, and has written it in his heart. (Jer. 31:33)

HOUSEHOLD MEMOS... by Lynn Chambers

You Can Stretch Meats and Have Delicious Meals

Leftovers need not recline on the refrigerator shelf when you can make them into delicious meat pies like this, simply and easily. Use leftovers from a roast with a few fresh vegetables and gravy to tuck inside the flaky piecrust.

Short on red points at the end of the week? There are several answers to the problem and I'm devoting the column to those suggestions today.

It's a good idea to be smart in your use of leftovers, and this is particularly true if you've splurged at the beginning of the week by purchasing a roast. After using the roast twice, you still have a bit of meat left on the bones, and if you fix it with an eye to camouflage, you can have a savory meal out of it.

Best way of extending meat when there's little enough of that is by using vegetables generously. Cut off what pieces of meat you can find on the bone, and combine these with some lovely, fresh-cooked vegetables such as carrots, peas, onions, potatoes and perhaps a few strips of green pepper for flavor. Combine all together with some of your favorite seasonings and tuck the whole mixture into these individual meat pies. In this way, your leftovers won't languish in the refrigerator.

Making Meat Pies.

Sift together 2 cups all-purpose flour and ¼ teaspoon salt. Cut into this ½ cup lard with spatula and work until the particles are the size of a small pea. Sprinkle 4 tablespoons water over the mixture, working it lightly with a fork until all the particles are moistened and in small lumps. Press dough into a ball, handling as little as possible. Flour board lightly. Divide pastry in half, roll lightly to an eighth-inch thickness. Using a 3½-inch pie plate, cut circles from pastry.

Cut ½-inch wedge from circle to insure better fit into muffin tins. Press the pastry lightly to fit tins and lap over wedge. Fill with meat-vegetable mixture. Roll out remaining dough, cut in circles to fit over top of each muffin tin. Press edges of crust together. Bake in a hot oven (400 degrees) 35 minutes. Remove from tins and serve hot.

Here's a salad that's rich in proteins and can be used to pitch in for the main dish when points are on the slim side:

Green Lima and Bacon Salad. (Serves 5 to 6)

2 cups cooked green lima beans
2 hard-cooked eggs
½ cup salted peanuts, chopped
2 teaspoons onion juice
4 strips crisp bacon
1 cup diced celery
¼ cup chopped pickle
½ teaspoon salt, if desired
Mayonnaise

Lynn Says:

Tips on Keeping Cool: Acting cool and thinking cool actually works a magic in making you cool. It's important to plan your day ahead so that it runs smoothly and so there will be a minimum of confusion—for that always makes weather hotter.

Dress cool, eat cool. Dress sensibly, keeping plenty of clean summer clothes on hand—things that can be done up with soap and water in a hurry and need little ironing. Crispy salads—even in the imagination—cool you off, and of course, frosty drinks.

Do your hot kitchen work in the cool morning hours. Make whatever preparations you can on the food front and store in the refrigerator, ready to pull out for dinner with a minimum of rush and hurry. Keep things simple, and you'll keep cool.

• Broiled Liver Sausage and Tomatoes
Potato Chips Green Salad
Rye Bread Iced Coffee
Chilled Cantaloupe
• Recipe Given

Combine ingredients, add salt and mayonnaise. Serve on crisp lettuce with bits of bacon.

Have you discovered that cold sausage and meat loaves are low in point value and that they go further than the same quantity of fresh meat? And, if you really like a hot dish for a meal, that the cold meats are equally delicious when served hot? You'll like these suggestions:

Bologna Spaghetti. (Serves 4)

½ pound bologna
½ cup onion, sliced
1 tablespoon bacon drippings
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon allspice
¼ teaspoon cloves
¼ teaspoon pepper
1½ cups tomato juice
3 cups cooked spaghetti

Dice 2 slices of bologna in skillet and brown with onion and bacon drippings. Add to this seasonings and tomato juice and simmer until thickened. Add cooked spaghetti and heat thoroughly. Serve with several slices of pan-fried bologna.

• Broiled Liver Sausage and Tomatoes (Serves 4).

½ pound liver sausage, sliced
4 large tomatoes, cut in half
8 slices of onion

Cut liver sausage into slices about ¼ inch thick. Remove casing. Place the slices of liver sausage on the broiling pan with tomatoes that have been cut in half and brushed with butter, seasoned with salt and pepper. Broil for about 8 minutes. Liver sausage need not be turned. As soon as tomatoes have broiled for about 4 minutes, top them with onion slices, if desired.

Frankfurters With Potato Salad. (Serves 4 to 6)

¼ cup bacon drippings
¼ cup vinegar
1 beaten egg
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon pepper
1 teaspoon sugar
4 cups cubed, cooked potatoes
½ cup chopped green pepper
¼ cup chopped onion
½ pound frankfurters

Heat bacon drippings and add vinegar, egg, salt, pepper, sugar, potatoes, green pepper and onion. Stir until thick. Cover frankfurters with boiling water and allow to stand 7 to 8 minutes. Arrange frankfurters on top of potato salad for serving.

Here's a lovely, luscious dessert that will go with any of the above main dish suggestions. It's easy to make and very nutritious:

Here are the golden brown, rich, luscious pies being taken from the muffin tins all ready to serve. If you have a fresh fruit salad with the meat pie and a beverage, your whole meal's complete.

Apricot Whip. (Serves 6 to 8)

1 No. 2½ can apricots
2 cups milk
2 eggs
¼ cup sugar
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla

Drain apricots. Mash with spoon. Chill. Scald milk. Beat eggs slightly, then add sugar and salt. Add milk slowly, mixing well. Cook in double boiler stirring constantly until mixture coats metal spoon. Take from fire, add vanilla and chill. When ready to serve, fold in chilled, mashed apricots.

The FARMERS CORNER

by RALPH H. TAYLOR

Executive Secretary Agricultural Council of California

EDITOR'S NOTE:—This is the first of two articles, dealing with the National Planning Association's findings on the primary requisites of a sound post-war program.

With all the welter of unrealistic post-war planning which is boiling up in the halls of starchy-eyed theorists and social reformists, it is encouraging to find that there are also down-to-earth groups, composed of practical men and women, who are earnestly at work on plans to guard against economic disaster in the critical after-the-war years.

Three post-war planning committees of the National Planning Association—the Business Committee, Labor Committee and Agriculture Committee—have been working together on the problem and have just rendered a preliminary report which strongly emphasizes the basic considerations which are essential in providing employment and in averting widespread want and privation during the reconstruction period.

By way of preface to its report, this group from the National Planning Association declares:

"This is a statement by men who, whether catalogued 'Business' or 'Labor' or 'Agriculture'—or 'Democrat' or 'Republican'—believe that what happens to this country after the fighting is over is of personal concern to every American.

"We remember what happened after the last war; we believe in preparing now for after this war. And we are unwilling to see the idea of post-war planning made a political football, a grindstone for the axes of special interest groups, or a bone of contention between those who want to go back to the past and those who want to blueprint the 'perfect world'.

"Specifically, we propose to look at the policies and plans of government, business, labor, agriculture and social and educational groups from our respective committees' points of view; to bring out into the open any conflicting points of view; and then to seek mutual agreement on those elements which appear workable and in the interest of all. Our function is not so much to create new plans as to seek out the best of post-war planning from other sources."

Post-war planning, reports this three-way group, representative of business, labor and agriculture, must be faced realistically. In this regard, it says:

"If, when the fighting is over, we have ex-soldiers selling apples on the streets, or masses of workers idle in present war production centers, or people starving in one part of the country while food surplus rot in other parts, we shall have lost this war. It will be too late to 'plan'. We must prepare now against unemployment during the reconversion period and for full and continuing employment under a peace-time economy. The first goal of post war planning should be a foundation for better living through provision for enough jobs and lasting jobs."

Then, repudiating all schemes to emasculate the American system of free enterprise, or to substitute government—employment for private employment, the report makes this fundamental declaration:

"The basis of America's post-war economy should be private enterprise, with private business and industry and agriculture continuing to operate as the people's primary means for providing jobs and producing goods and services; with government performing its constitutional function of establishing the rules of the game, acting as impartial referee, and effecting fiscal policies through taxation and expenditure programs, such as public works, that will mesh with private undertakings.

"But the private enterprise system must adjust itself to a changing world. Before there can be blueprints, there must be unity of purpose among all groups, with realization that our group-interests are identical. There must be fullest cooperation and teamwork, based on mutual trust, on the part of business, labor and agriculture and government. This trust can't merely be assumed; it must be honestly earned through practice in the first place, and hereafter preserved by continuous good faith, performance and collaboration. If our private enterprise system is to go forward there must be a new sense of responsibility for the welfare of all the people."

There is idealism in that statement of fundamentals, but here is also practicality. The National Planning Association report stresses that each party to the study—the Business Committee, the Labor Committee and the Committee on Agriculture—fully recognizes the independence of its group on each of the others.

In a succeeding article, that phase of the report will be discussed which deals with the relationship between business, labor and agriculture in meeting the post-war challenge—the job each must do, and the guarantees each must give the other, if a pull-together program for full employment and a maximum of security is to be achieved.

This may be the only water you'll dive into this summer!

Your Gas Water Heater has a BIG JOB to do — take care of it

Vacations are certain to be curtailed items this summer. There will be added garden and housework to attend to and water sports may be restricted to the bathtub, shower and washing machine.

Which raises this question: "When was the last time you gave your faithful, dependable, hard-working water heater some personal attention and care?"

Summer is the time to attend to your water heater because summer is the time when your household demands its greatest use of hot water. And here is what to do: 1. Drain your water heater tank of sediment. 2. Brush the burner clean and clear of dust and dirt. 3. Touch up exposed flue and connections with paint or oil to prevent corrosion. 4. If special trouble develops call in a service man for a check-up.

Gas and Electricity are Vital in War Production even though they are not rationed and are cheap to use—do not waste them!

Quoted from a letter...

"My conscience hurts me today.

"When I was washing up before getting off the train this morning, I learned that six sailors and three soldiers had sat up all night. These men were making this trip under orders—yet there was no sleeping space available for them.

"When I think of the effort you of Southern Pacific, along with other railroads, are making to care for our service men—and then remember that I obtained a berth that should have gone to a service man—it humiliates me. I was due back for a War Bond meeting today and at the time it seemed important. But compared with taking accommodations away from soldiers and sailors my presence here was highly unessential.

"It has been a good lesson for me. Hereafter I shall travel only when I know I'm not depriving service men of sleeping space..."

How's YOUR conscience today?

The letter quoted here came from a western newspaper editor and publisher. This man has a conscience that can't be lulled to sleep by easy self-reassurances.

We hope many other prospective travelers will listen to the "still small voice" of their conscience when it asks questions like these:

How much business and how much pleasure are involved in the train trip I plan? Is it really important for me to visit those relatives back East this war year? Couldn't I get just as much rest and relaxation a little closer to home?

Today the railroad is hard-pressed to find space for essential travelers: People whose trip must be made to keep business and war production going... Service men on well-deserved furloughs, possibly the last before combat duty... Parents going to visit their son when the latter can't get away from his post. When people travel for pleasure, or other non-essential reasons, they prevent such deserving travelers from getting on the train. Yes, we sincerely mean it when we say: "Don't take the train unless your trip is really NECESSARY."
